previously stationed in the former boys school. It is noted that, with the reduction of the resurrened area in the uranium mining district, Annaberg was excluded from the Ît is noted 25X1 restricted area. According to other reports, the output of uranium ore decreased in the Annaberg area. From the vague strength estimates for the installations occupied by labor units, it cannot definitely be concluded that the personnel strength of these units decreased. According to a study on the uranium mining district dated March 1953, the installation between Kleinrueckertswalder Strasse and Voigtstrasse was occupied by 1,500 labor personnel. One month later, the installation 25X1 was reported to be vacant. The 1,000 men which, according to the present report, were stationed in the former Mehnert factory would represent two thirds of these units. On the basis of this vague information, it is assumed that the occupation strength in Annaberg decreased by a total of 500 MVD soldiers and 500 men of labor units between
